

Master of Arts in Theology Lakeland College Fall 2010

Students may participate in the M.A.T. courses in person at the Sheboygan campus or through an interactive, real time, online experience from their home computer. Through easy-to-use technology and programming, students can view the notes, images and power point presentations displayed in class, listen to the instructor and classmates, and participate in class discussion.

We are pleased to offer the following two courses for the Fall 2010 semester:

TH: 500 Understandings of Christian Theology

An introduction to the systematic study of the basic teachings of Christianity (systematic theology). Classical and contemporary methods of doing theology, revelation and reason, faith and order, Catholic church and the Protestant principle, the authority of scripture and the language of faith, classical doctrine in the 21st century, the Christ of faith and the Jesus of history, the ecumenical "tradition of faith" in the historical and contemporary context.

Dr. Richard L. Christensen (920-565-1345) christensenr@lakeland.edu

TUESDAY EVENINGS, 5:30-8:30 P.M.

TH: 510 Old Testament Interpretation: The Law and the Prophets

An introduction to the writings of the Hebrew Scriptures that comprise the Protestant Old Testament, including a survey of the Old Testament texts, the social-religious and historical backgrounds contributing to their development, and methods of Old Testament exegesis. A major aim of the course is to lay a foundation that will enable students to become proficient interpreters of these texts. To that end, the course seeks to help students develop skills of critical investigation while also learning how to integrate these skills with an appreciation of the Old Testament as an integral part of the Christian sacred story.

Dr. Karl Kuhn (920-565-1274) kuhnka@lakeland.edu

THURSDAY EVENINGS, 5:30-8:30 P.M.

The tuition for each of these 3-credit classes is $1260.

Classes start the week of September 7, 2010
